What Makes Lumon's Glazing Systems Unique?

Our frameless retractable balcony glass opens fully and folds neatly against an interior wall, maximizing functionality by folding inward or sliding to the side.

Designed, engineered, and tested in Finland, our systems are built to withstand strong winds and harsh weather—all without sacrificing style or clashing with your restaurant's exterior.

Proven to perform just as well in global climates, our glazing solutions have been used to protect and preserve thousands of balconies, patios, and terraces across North America, including more than 50 restaurant outdoor spaces.

> As far as I'm concerned, Lumon is the ultimate partner for bringing in sales volume and helping us achieve a more successful patio and environment.

With Lumon's enclosed patio, we were able to increase our seating capacity from 102 seats to 147 seats for year-long use. It is a fully heated patio but the ability to adjust and utilize this whole space throughout the year instead of a spring-summer-fall patio is huge for us.

Built With Strong, Sustainable Materials

Plastic and vinyl enclosures wear down with everyday use, making regular maintenance and product replacement an unavoidable cost.

With Lumon glazing systems, the durability of tempered safety glass means fewer disruptions and lower long-term costs—freeing restaurateurs to focus on what matters most: their customers.

Lumon restaurant patio enclosures can be fully open, fully closed, or anywhere in between, giving owners and guests ultimate control over their environment. By shielding your patio from wind and rain, our systems help extend your outdoor dining season well beyond what traditional setups allow.
