“Designing for Multi-Generation Households”

In this condensed version of the four-hour program "Designing for Multi-Generation Lifestyles, we will discuss the growing trend of multi-generations in the home. This course examines the four generations and how designers will design for diverse generational demographics. How will designers marry the needs of Traditionals and Gen-Yers with the Baby Boomers and Gen-Xers sandwiched in between? These questions and more will be answered in this look at the generations in the home and their specific needs.
