

DECK MOUNTED ROOF BALCONY WINDOW

The FGH-V is a roof window that transforms into a balcony. The upper sash opens upward while the lower sash folds outward, creating a usable balcony space. The top sash when rotated 0° to 45° is supported by an auxiliary mechanism which allows leaving the window tilted open. Integrated side railings automatically extend when the window is opened and fold discreetly away beneath the exterior cladding when closed.

Features:

- low-emission and heat-reflecting double glazed glass
- factory finished frame, ready for installation
- system of reinforced window structure topSafe
- accessories available for purchase
- suitable for roof pitches between 35°-55°

FGH-V

The FGH-V balcony window requires dedicated flashings: ELN-T/G for shingles and EHN-AT/G for high profile roofing materials. Both include additional insulation around the frame to help reduce heat loss and thermal bridging.
