As the trusted expert for closet design services and quality products, ClosetMaid PRO offers tools and support services that simplify the process of designing, specifying, and installing storage systems.

"What we've seen from consumers, especially over the past four to five years, is growing demand for better-suited closets and storage spaces in their homes," said Brian Dougherty, vice president of sales for ClosetMaid's Building Division. "Homebuyers and renters alike are seeking homes or units with walk-in closets and flexible storage spaces, often paying more of a premium for these amenities. For us at ClosetMaid PRO, we feel we must demonstrate to homebuilding professionals at IBS that our brand offers the range of services and customizable products that can deliver the quality, efficiency and affordability they require to make their projects successful."
