White Overtones

“GenStone is SOOOO cool! I’m not sure why I waited so long to buy it. So easy to install and the finished product is -- WOW. I wanted to add some pizzazz to my basement bar and went with the exposed brick look (Chicago). I had the boxes sitting in my basement for a month or so. When COVID hit I figured it was the perfect time to knock out some home projects. The outcome blew my mind. Here are the project pics below. Highly recommended. This stuff is worth its wait in gold.”

“Took a bit of searching to find a product that would reasonably match original brick on home for detached garage, most was antique or heavily tumbled.

This brick worked perfectly to help style the detached garage to fit the home.

Amazingly easy to install, used an 80 tooth blade on table saw to make the cuts nice and precise. Only issue was with the shipper who damaged items twice. But the company dealt with it quickly and professionally.”

“I was extremely satisfied with the GenStone experience. We looked at a number of other products, however it was the overall look and ease of application that sold us. Our friends and family have only confirmed the “WOW” factor we hoped for. We are thrilled with the new look and are happy to give our full endorsement of GenStone.”

Chicago Color Profile Inspiration

Full of style and American architecture, the city of Chicago was the source of inspiration for this popular GenStone faux brick panel design. Take one stroll down busy Michigan avenue and see several proud skyscrapers, covered with the grit of commerce and history yet stoic and beautiful at the same time. The likely overcast clouds above add a steamy charm to the windy city below.

The Chicago faux stone panel design features a deep burgundy, crimson base, darkened with varying grays and contrasting white highlights. Chicago adds a hint of urban nobility to your project that allows it to pair with almost any other design element. Order your sample today and try Chicago on your next project.
